

UNIQUELY INDIANA

A special edition dedicated to architecture, sustainable design and quality craftsmanship.

There are some projects that stand out from the crowd, where design, creativity and resourcefulness set a new standard. Not every design, technology or structure qualifies; think of the top 20 per cent in any aspect, and you'll be confident your story is truly worth sharing.

To make sure you are included in this special edition and do not miss out, please select one or two projects from your portfolio, which you think describes your most exciting work.

We will work with you to create an outstanding profile on your firm/company in which we will showcase your projects.

Best of all, we do all the work. You simply provide us with some background and a few high quality images and we will assign a writer, interview you and then write the draft profile, which will be sent to you for review, revisions, corrections and final approval. Then we will lay out the feature, including, images, your article, logos and graphics and send the draft layout to you for final approval as well.

We'll profile each project/design in the Indiana Construction News and frame your individual project in the context of an overview feature to make it look even better – and you can adapt the published result for your own website, fact sheets and marketing materials to ensure enduring value. You'll be able to review everything before it is published to ensure it reflects well on your business and team.

Space Reservation and Production
Deadlines are coming quickly...
So PLEASE REPLY TODAY!
So you do not miss out!

Receive prominent placement in the published feature and save $100

For more information and to get started, email Tim Lawlor today at tlawlor@cnrgp.com or phone 1-888-627-8717 ext 210.

Reserve a half-page ad and we will give you the other half-page (at no charge) for your project showcase.